3. Paratransit Audit

Sean McGrath presented the Paratransit Audit Report.

Councillor Bruce advised, that although encouraging GoBus users to use conventional transit when possible would reduce organizational costs and increase the financial viability of the paratransit service, that she has heard from riders that get frustrated and will go back to using GoBus services. It was advised that the current conventional buses have rear facing wheelchair positions, but that new buses would come with new technology which would allow for forward facing options.

Concerns were also raised regarding the recommendation to provide free or heavily discounted conventional transit rides to paratransit users. It was advised that other transit authorities in Canada offer these and that it would be a reward for participants of the travel training program.
